OVERVIEW OF MARTINIQUE

LOCATION

An overseas department of France, Martinique is one of the Windward Islands in the Lesser Antilles group. The island is 4350 miles away from France, 1950 miles from New York and 275 miles from the closest South American coastline.

GEOGRAPHY

With a surface area of 425 square miles, Martinique is 50 miles long and 24 miles at its widest part. The north is mountainous and characterized by dense forests and waterfalls. Mount Pelée is the island's highest peak, culminating at 4500 feet. In the center, the Lamentin Plain transitions to the South's gentler and geologically older landscape of rolling hills. The southern coast is dotted with picturesque bays and coves.

CLIMATE

With an average temperature of 79°F (26°C), Martinique has a fairly mild climate. The trade winds from North East provide a steady refreshing breeze. The island is lush with vegetation: lavish tropical forests, groves, savannas, and countless species of trees, plants and flowers, not to mention mangrove swamps.

FORT-DE-FRANCE CAPITAL CITY: A BUSTLING CITY

Fort-de-France is the business center and administrative capital of the island with many tourist attractions most of which are grouped around "La Savane" city's park. Approximately one quarter of the population resides in the capital, Fort-de-France.

POPULATION & CULTURE

With 381,326 inhabitants, Martinique has a multiethnic population. This diversity stems from the cultural mixing of the island's successive inhabitants: Amerindians, Europeans, Africans, Indians, Levantines and Asians.

LANGUAGE

The official language is French, although everyone speaks Creole, a language that is a blend of French, English, and African languages, as well as surviving Amerindian terms. English is spoken in tourist areas.

AN AMAZING DIVERSITY

Birthplace of Empress Joséphine, Martinique stands out by its incredible biodiversity and its extraordinary cultural heritage. The bay of Fort-de-France which was recently inducted into the club of the most beautiful bays in the world, the Iconic Mount Pelée Volcano which erupted on May 8th 1902 and killed 30.000 people at Saint-Pierre, the historic Diamond Rock which used to be the site for fierce battles between the French and the English at the beginning of the 19th century, the Tour des Yoles Rondes a spectacular and very popular multistage sailing regatta exclusively run in Martinique, all have been presented to be listed as heritage of UNESCO.

MARTINIQUE'S RUMS, THE BEST IN THE WORLD

Martinique's rums have been awarded the prestigious French label "appellation d'origine contrôlée" previously reserved only for French cheeses and wines. Throughout the island, rum distilleries welcome visitors for sampling their product.

CURRENCY

The EURO is the legal currency. US DOLLARS can be converted to Euros at change offices in downtown Fort-de-France and at the airport. Bank-operated 24-hour ATMs can also be found throughout the island. All major credit cards are accepted.

Martinique boasts a diversity of accommodations which can meet the needs of all types of visitors.

LA MARTINIQUE

HOMEPORTING IN MARTINIQUE

Inaugurated in 1995 and managed by “Société Aéroport Martinique Aimé Césaire” company, Martinique’s Aimé Césaire International Airport is ideally located on the plain of Lamentin, fifteen minutes from Tourelles Cruise Terminal homeport.

AIRPORT OPERATIONS

In the airport terminal, cruise passengers arriving by charter or regular flights will benefit from a specific treatment.

CHARTER FLIGHTS BAGGAGE HANDLING

- The baggage from charter flights is transferred directly from the plane into small-containers (AKE) that are watertight sealed and labeled. These containers are loaded into secured trucks directly on the airport tarmac. If the containers are not available, the baggage is loaded directly into secured vans under the close supervision of a security agent. In any case, seals are put either on the containers or baggage vans doors.
- The baggage is then transferred to the port under the supervision of a security agent or a representative of the cruise line.
- Once at the pier, the seals on the containers or on the van can be verified by Customs at random.
- In case containers arrive unsealed, the luggage will be checked. If the seals are not broken, the containers can be loaded directly onto the vessel.
- The entire airport process is managed by a cruise company representative. Luggage from passengers not arriving directly from the airport will be checked by security at the Tourelles Cruise Terminal.

Upon Cruise lines’ request and approval of the costs estimate and under the responsibility of the selected airline.

BOARDING CRUISE PASSENGERS

Since season 2012-2013, Tourelles Cruise Terminal has completely been revamped in order to improve operations. Buses coming from the airport proceed to the parking area located next to the embarkation hall where about 15 check-in counters can be available upon request of the cruise line. Qualified agents manage those operations.

Passengers are controlled by a security agent and pass through X-RAY screening before boarding the ship.

BAGGAGE HANDLING

Cruise passengers with baggage have to deliver it to the security check point.

Generally, 100% of the baggage is scanned in a specific area equipped with 2 large X-RAYS machines before being loaded to the ships. The baggage arriving directly from the airport can also be transferred directly to the vessel upon cruise line’s request. The baggage is controlled on the vessel.

At Tourelles cruise terminal, about 1500 passengers and their baggage can be processed within 3 hours (check-in + screening operations baggage and passengers: 100%).

LA MARTINIQUE

Updated September 2016

CRUISE PASSENGERS ON DEPARTURE

The baggage is dropped under a large shed dedicated for this operation. Then, the passengers disembark, collect their baggage and proceed directly to the coaches for the transfer to the airport.

If needed, passengers can use trolleys available on the terminal.

Direct check-in will be implemented as of season 2016-2017.

On arrival at the airport, the ground handling agents of the airline, load the baggage on board respecting the airport security and safety processes.

The passengers go through the normal security checkpoints and immigration control before entering the boarding area.

The usual airport process of passengers and luggage checked-in at the airport can be implemented.

For any other requests please contact the Airport Authorities at:

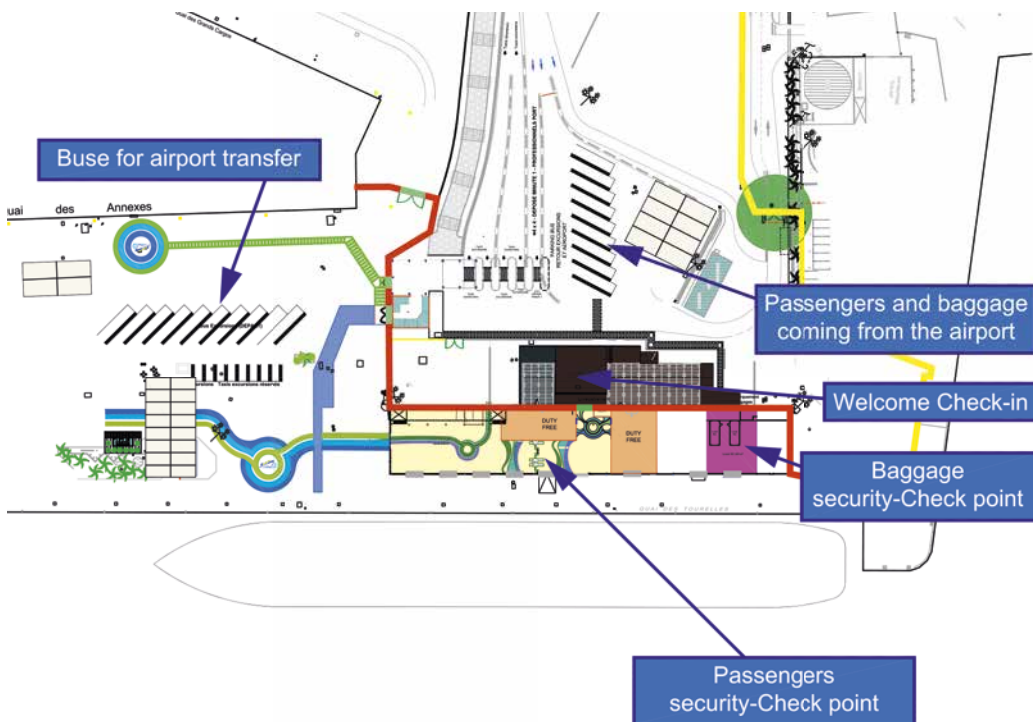

+ 596 596 42 18 87.

Upon Cruise lines' request and approval of the costs estimate and under the responsibility of the selected airline.

TREATMENT OF CRUISE PASSENGERS

- French and European passengers and those arriving from France will benefit from a quick control at immigration checkpoint.
- Independent passengers will collect their luggage at the airport.
- Using a luggage cart, passengers bring their luggage at the cruise company meeting point located in the Airport main Hall.
- Passengers are then directed to the waiting area for the bus transfer to the Port.
- Passengers with luggage embark with them in the bus.

POINTE SIMON CRUISE TERMINAL

Located right downtown, Pointe Simon cruise terminal is dedicated to cruise ships in transit.

The pier underwent extension works to accommodate Oasis-of-the-Sea type (Genesis class) ships.

THE EXTENSION WORKS CONSISTED IN:

- increasing the surface area of the platform
- strengthening the berthing
- strengthening the mooring

INCREASING THE SURFACE AREA OF THE PLATFORM

In order to be able to receive larger numbers of cruise passengers in good conditions, the surface area of the platform (formerly 50 meters long) was doubled and then extended by 52 meters towards the open water (the width of the platform is 15 meters, identical to the former platform).

STRENGTHENING THE BERTHING

In order to receive larger ships, the berthing front was strengthened by making it longer (to ensure the stability and position of the ship) and by increasing its capability to absorb berthing energy.

Two berthing dolphins were added upstream and downstream from the existing berthing front. These berthing dolphins have two tubular piles and can each absorb energy of 285 tons per meter (the former ones could only absorb 160 tons per meter). So each berthing dolphin is now able, alone, to hold a 100.000 ton ship in extreme berthing conditions.

Furthermore, the spacing of the berthing dolphins is now 150 meters, so the dock is able, in principle, to accommodate ships up to 450 meters in length.

An additional berthing dolphin was also built on the auxiliary dock side, to accommodate ships measuring up to 221 meters, of the Costa Romantica type.

LA MARTINIQUE

STRENGTHENING THE MOORING

In addition to the bollards present on the new berthing dolphins, the pier is now featuring two additional mooring dolphins. One is located 30 meters forward of the old one, on the city side, and the other, 80 meters from the old one, on sea side, being essentially intended for mooring the largest cruise ships.

These dolphins are equipped with quick-release hooks (2 x 50 tons of rated traction) and electrical capstans.

Note: The prevailing winds are east, thus docking, which makes docking more convenient on the main pier.

- Grande Anse: a nice bay serving as an ideal anchorage refuge for boutique cruise ships and yachts. Its white sand beach is lined with bars, restaurants, scuba diving clubs, and shops.
- The nearby town of Anses-d'Arlet is more exposed to the winds and currents than Grande Anse as closer to Saint-Lucia Canal.
- An organized anchorage area managed by a Harbor Master's office, is equipped with 119 mooring buoys off the Grande Anse beach and 34 off the town of Anses-d'Arlet, for boats up to 20 meters.
- Grande Anse beach is accessible right off the landing stage.
- Mini-bus and van parking available.

SIX SHIPS' CALLS ARE SCHEDULED IN GRANDE ANSE FOR SEASON 2016-2017

Les Anses-d'Arlet, located in south-west Martinique, owe their name to a former Caribbean chief named Arlet who for many years possessed the entire region, and more specifically the lands culminating in the two Anses (coves):

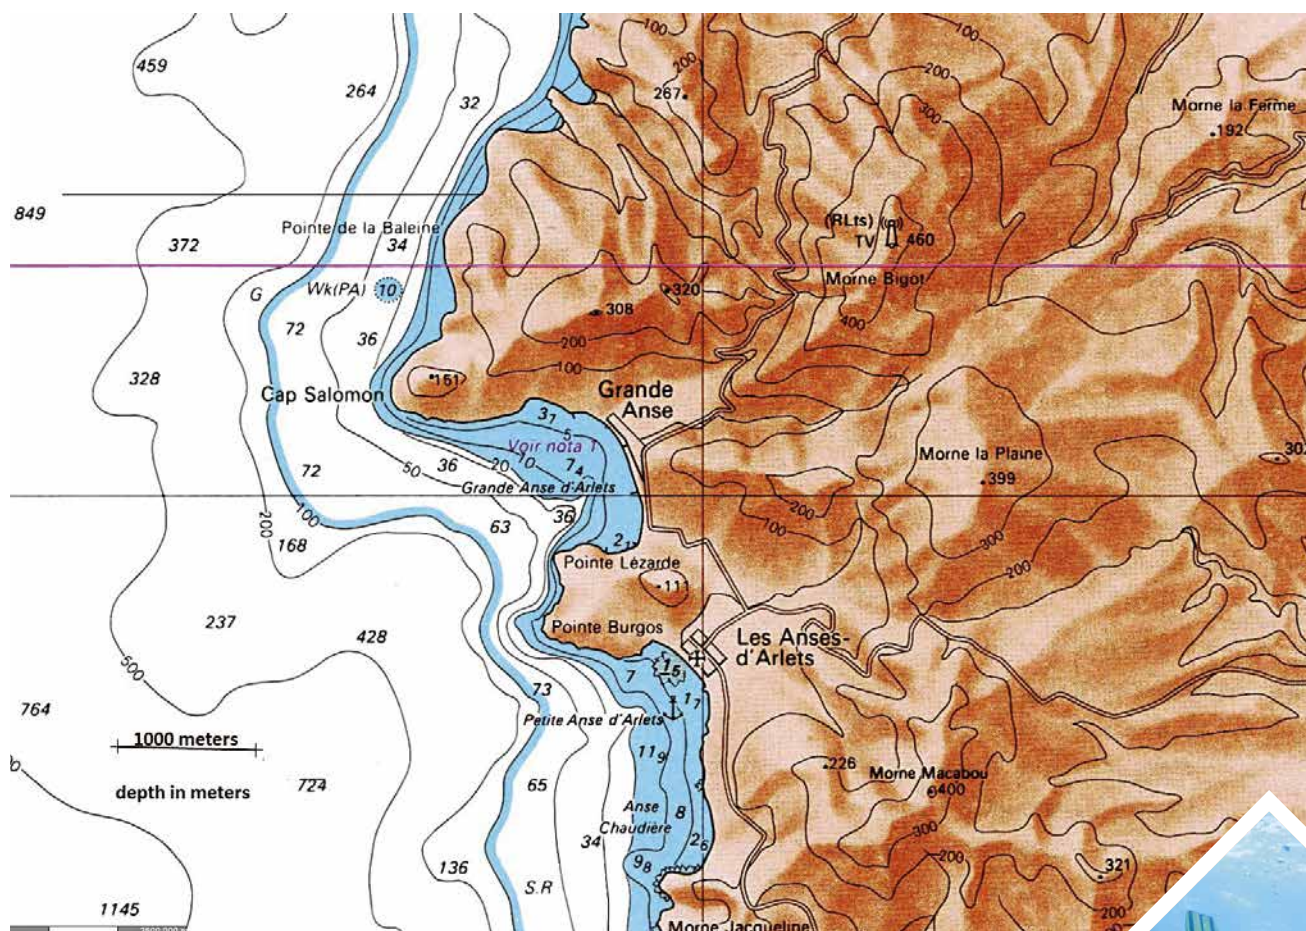

- Grande Anse, at the entrance to Fort-de-France bay, with its long beach, which is an increasingly popular mooring site for smaller luxury liners.
- Petite Anse, further south, accessed via Le Diamant, is a fishing village.
- The town is nestled between these two coves sits, with its old Creole houses, fruit market, pharmacy, and its church perfectly aligned with the communal marina looking out to sea.

PARKS AND NATURAL SITES

- The Espérance Golf Course: Located at Trois-Îlets, one mile from the leading resort area of Pointe du Bout and 20 miles from Martinique's Capital, Fort-de-France, the "Golf de l'Impératrice" was designed by Robert Trent Jones Senior in 1976. This 18 hole course, one of the Caribbean's most beautiful ones, is on a site which is not only picturesque, but also historic: it unfolds its greens from Joséphine's birthplace, wife of Napoleon, across undulating hillocks that offer breathtaking views of the turquoise sea.
Open from Monday to Saturday from 8 am to 1 pm & 1:30 pm to 5 pm on Sunday from 8 am to 3 pm – Tel: 0596 596 52 04 13.
- Vatable Forest: National Forests Office.

HERITAGE

- Notre Dame de la Bonne Délivrance Church: Located on the central square of Trois-Îlets, the church of "Notre Dame de la Bonne Délivrance" was built in 1724 on a land granted by Sieur de Montigny. The Trois-Îlets church is famous for having been the parish where three ceremonies were held bringing together the family of Empress Joséphine in joy and sadness: the marriage of her parents in 1761, her baptism in 1763 and her mother's funeral in 1807. That's why the whole church was listed as an historic building on January 5th of 1993. Free visit on Monday and Friday from 9 am to 11 am.
- The Pottery Village: Located on the site of a former Jesuit couvent set up in late 17th century, has been working with local clay since the middle of the 18th century. Take a trip to the Pottery Village to see expertise of the craftsmen and the superb exhibition areas.
Open Monday till Saturday from 9 am to 6 pm (admission free) – Tel: 0596 596 68 03 44.
- The Savannah of the Slaves: Located in the rural district of "La Ferme" on the outskirts of Les Trois-Îlets, the Savannah of the Slaves is a fascinating and incredibly detail-oriented replica of a mid-nineteenth century slave village. Set in a 5-acre park on the edge of the forest, the slave village features a few huts scattered among ponds, benches, and small patches of tropical gardens, all of which have been shaped by the owner Gilbert Larose since 2000. Roofs made with dried and tightly-woven sugar cane leaves, wooden walls, mud floors are some of the details which really conjure up the time of yesteryear. This is indeed a unique opportunity to experience a real-life example of what one person's drive and passion can create, while learning more about Martinican history and culture.
Open every day from 9 am to 12 am & 2 pm to 5:30 pm – Tel: 0596 596 68 33 91.
Admission: Adult €7 and children (less than 12 years old) €3.
- L'îlet à ramiers (Pigeon Island): This island extends over 3 hectares southwest of the Bay of Fort-de-France. During the colonial period and until the early 20th century, the islet had a military vocation. A battery was built between 1740 and 1745 on top of the islet about 40 meters above sea level. Today, listed as a historical monument, this fort is one of the finest examples of military architecture of Martinique, the only one of this size that is located on an islet.
A unique opportunity to explore the military history of Martinique!
To visit the islet, please contact the local tourist office of Trois-Îlets.

MUSEUMS

- Sugar Cane Museum: Opened in 1987, The Sugar Cane Museum is located at Vatable on Les Trois-Îlets, on an estate covering an area of more than 2 hectares. It provides a wealth of information about sugar cane and gives a wide-ranging overview of the industry. Its aim is not only to illustrate its economic, socio-political and cultural history but also to promote sugar cane, a plant with a future thanks to modern technology.
Open Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday from 8:30 am to 5:30 pm, Friday from 8:30 am to 5:00 pm and Saturday from 8:30 am to 12:00 pm & 1 pm to 5 pm, Sunday from 9 pm to 12 pm & 1 pm to 5 pm – Tel: 0596 68 32 04. Admission: Adult €3, children (5-12 years old) €0.75.
- The Pagerie Museum: Located in magnificent natural surroundings, the Pagerie Museum has been a listed building since 1979. The museum is housed in the ruins of the "out-buildings" of the sugar planter's house. That museum dedicated to Joséphine served as a pretext for learning more about the country's colonial history, in particular the history of its famous sons and daughters but not forgetting the 150 anonymous people who worked at La Petite Guinée, later known as La Sanois then la Pagerie.
Open Tuesday till Friday from 9 am to 4:30 pm, Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 am to 1:00 pm – Tel: 0596 596 68 38 34. Admission: Adults €5.00 & children (5-12 years old) €1.50.
